

Health Equity Initiative

All Canadians deserve the same access to quality care.

Novartis Canada believes health equity starts with listening to communities and supporting local solutions. That's why we are committed to championing fair access to care and actively support community-driven healthcare solutions that put people first.

The Novartis Health Equity Initiative is our commitment to tackling health disparities to help build a healthier and more inclusive Canada for everyone by funding innovative, community-led, non-profit projects.

Since the launch of the program in 2024, Novartis Canada has committed $1.45 million dollars to community-led projects that tackle real-world obstacles to care and improve health outcomes where needs are greatest.
